CITY EXPLORING SELLING ADVERTISING ON BURNSVILLE.ORG

The City of Burnsville is currently exploring the possibility of selling advertising on the City's website, www.burnsville.org and is seeking public input.

Residents, community organizations and business owners are asked to respond to a short, five-question survey that asks for opinions on the City selling advertising on its website, and whether there is any interest in purchasing advertising on the site.

The survey is available at www.surveymonkey.com/s/webads or via www.burnsville.org.

The City of Burnsville currently sells advertising in select print publications (the annual Recreation Times magazine, biannual Community Guide and annual Burnsville Performing Arts Center publications). The City also solicits sponsorship for community events and Burnsville Community Television (BCTV) programming.
